Undergraduate student (including transfer student) may apply for early registration for graduate-level courses of Master programs from relevant department, institute, and degree program. The admission quota, selection criteria and selection procedure are determined by each department, institute, and degree program. Each department, institute, and degree program should set up a review team to decide the list of admitted students based on the principle of fairness and justness. The list of admitted students should be sent to the Registry Division after being proved by the meeting of review team.

2. Procedure: Student fills in this application form.→Submit this to your department office.→Approved by the meeting of the department which you apply for the master degree program.→Send the approved list to the Office of Academic Affairs for further reference (this application form will be retained by the department office).

3. Quasi graduate students have to acquire their Bachelor's degree by the eighth semester. Quasi graduate students still have to follow the formal procedure to apply for admission to the Master program and get admission.

The regulations for reporting to the university, registration procedures, and deferral of enrollment are identical to those for newly admitted students to the MA program. The degree regulations upon admission are based on the rules and regulations of individual departments and degree programs.
